

What is Planning Matters?

Planning Matters brings the world of land use planning to you!

Explore our fun and exciting resources and programmes specially created for you to learn about urban planning in a fun and easy way. Participate in one of our workshops to be a planner for a day.

We hope you're as excited as us because ...Planning Matters!

The Urban Redevelopment Authority (URA) is Singapore's national land use planning agency. We strive to create a vibrant and sustainable city of distinction by planning and facilitating Singapore's physical development in partnership with the community. As the state's main land sales agent, we manage the sale and development of state land to meet our land use needs. URA is also the place manager for Marina Bay and promotes architecture and urban design excellence in the city.

Visit www.ura.gov.sg for more information.

To make Singapore a great city to live, work and play
Copyright © 2014. All rights reserved.

A collection of urban planning resources

Start your journey with some of our popular resources & programmes today!

View these programmes and resources
online:

<http://ow.ly/xqmta>

Explore the interactive library of more than 1,000 stories, videos and pictures of famous landmarks, streetscapes and skylines past, present and future in Singapore's city centre.

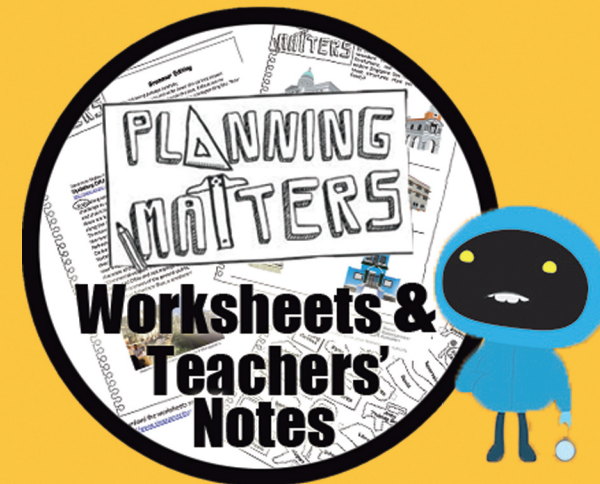

Gain an understanding of the various planning considerations through one of our immersive workshops where participants come up with solutions to address land use challenges using Lego bricks.

The Master Plan features a comprehensive and integrated planning approach to the development of land in Singapore. It plays a vital role in helping us meet and balance the various needs while maintaining a liveable and sustainable environment.

Race against time to balance the competing needs of a city-state. Create your own city and see how well you do against others.

Discover more about urban planning in class or at the Singapore City Gallery with these specially designed activities and teachers' notes.